Domaine Sainte Leocadie Minervois

In the heart of the Causses (a group of limestone plateaus in the elevated region of south-central France known as the Massif Central) is the AOC Minervois. In this special section of the western Languedoc is the village of Aigne, with its snail like center. The origins of this charming village go as far back as the first century AD (when it was inhabited by the Romans), so it is believed that the winding streets were installed as a safeguard against invaders. Thankfully, times are more peaceful and, for the past several hundred, the village has found quiet prosperity with olive trees and vineyards. Anne and Thierry Bonnel deliver one of the region's better wines with their Domaine Sainte Leocadie "Les Clauses." Generally a blend of 50% Syrah, 25% Grenache and 25% Carignan, it offers enough body, fruit and earthy spice to compliment the heartiest of meals. All wine available are
